March 15 - "The Madison Community School"--an experiment in education. Mrs. Dorothy Osteraas and others

A search for a more meaningful school experience-- by teachers, students, and parents--is now becoming a reality in an experimental high school. One of the goals is "to redefine school...as a group of people whose purpose is to learn together, to respect each others' differences, and to care about each other".

March 22 - "A Search for Meaning through Modern Folk Music" --Harold Rogers with help from some creative musicians.

What about this music appeals so tremendously to young people? How serious is their interest in it? Mr. Rogers is regarded by many as an authority on Bob Dylan. We have a rare opportunity to bridge the generation gap.

March 29 - A family Easter service is planned. Details will be announced in the next Newsletter.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

New Teachers

Sarah Clark will be teaching the 3rd and 4th grades for the rest of the year. They are using Jesus the Carpenter's Son now.

Jane Ruck will be taking the 5th and 6th grades again after spring vacation for some more exploration of the natural world.

Please

We need blown-out eggs to decorate for our annual spring egg tree.

LONG-RANGE PLANNING GROUP REPORTS

The summaries of the long-range planning discussion groups that were held a few weeks ago will be available next Sunday morning. Please sign your name when you pick up your copy. If you don't pick one up next Sunday, one will be sent to you via the U.S. mails.

SOCIAL ACTION

About 150 people attended the Dane County Welfare Rights Alliance Brunch held last Sunday at the First Society and approximately $135 was raised. The brunch was sponsored jointly by the Social Action committees of the First and Prairie Societies.

The money will be turned over to the Friends of Welfare Rights Organization who are conducting a fund-raising campaign to finance a county organizer. John Calkins was recently chosen for this post. He is a graduate student in social work who has been working closely with the group for the past three months and is a former Peace Corps volunteer who served in Africa.
