R.E. Corner

When the contents of the UNICEF cartons brought back by our church school members were counted, we had $24.53 to contribute to UNICEF. Thanks to everyone who helped with this.

For those who missed the service last Sunday, the "surprise" created by the children to share with the adults was a "thousand person cake"--unbelievable as this sounds! In our Sharing Circle we had talked about the ingredients that go into a cake, and where they come from, including all the people involved in growing the wheat, for example, reaping it, storing it, moving it to warehouses and stores, putting it on shelves, and selling it to us. And as we thought of each of the other ingredients, it seemed that a thousand people might easily have been involved in getting them to our homes. Making the cake seemed simple compared to everything else, but it was fun nevertheless. Each class group went to a different home to bake a cake
